2. Your Account remain logged in to the main discord service even if you turn off your PC.
3. Your installed Discord client software and web browser “discord client” don’t need login informations again to join and browse your server until you ask/force a logout.

Logout:

1. Click on the Cog wheel on your settings bar

2. Select “Log out” in the list below

Add server to your Account / Join server

1. Open your discord client and click on the add button

2. Select "Join server"

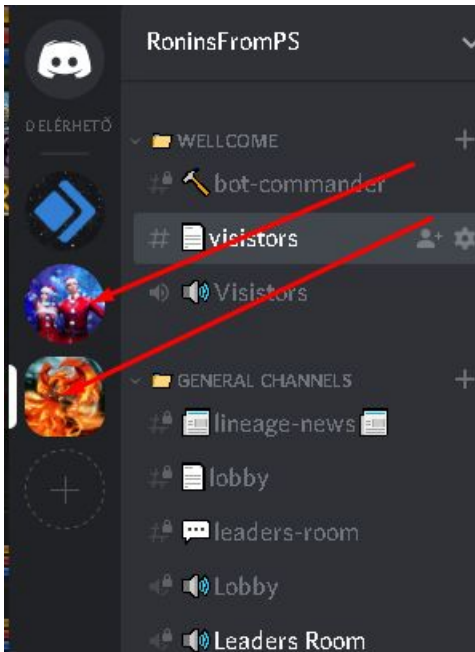

3. Paste the provided server invitation link and click Enter
<https://discord.gg/BvxYPzk>

Select actual discord server

1. By clicking on the different servers added to your account you can see all the chat and voice rooms. You can have many-many servers.

2. You can browse the channels on other servers. The actual server selected has a white stripe in front of the server's icon. Until you don't join another voice channel on that server a small speaker icon indicates where you are speaking now.

General use tips and rules

- On Discord the Voice and Text channels are NOT bound and fixed together. You can speak and stay in one channel and join different text rooms and chat conversations at the same time even on other servers.
- New & not read text chat messages are indicated for you with a blue and highlighted channel name.

- Room groups on the servers can be colapsed and opened any time.
Text channels are marked with # voice channels are marked with a speaker sign.

- Clicking here can open/hide the list of users.

- To send a short message / “poke” Click on the users name by the left mouse button and type your message into the smal window below

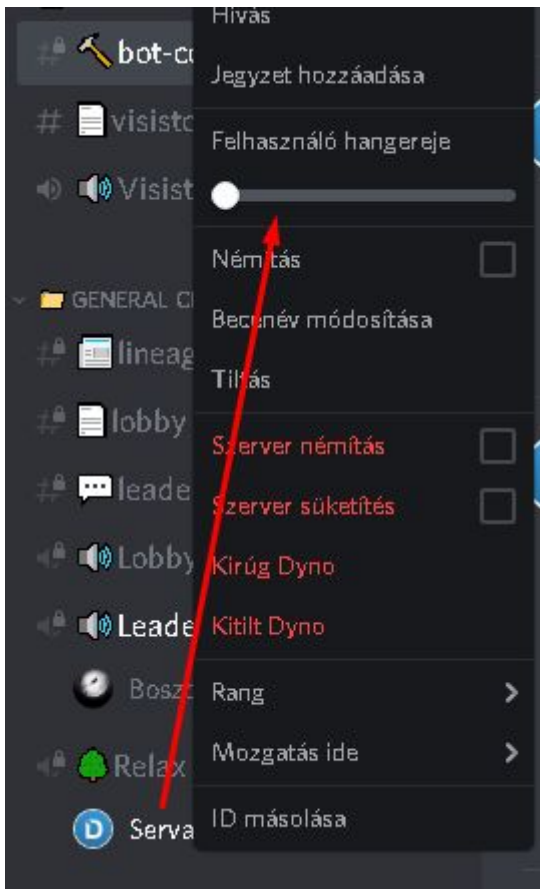

- To start a long private conversation Click on the users name by the left mouse button and select Send mesage. This opens a private chat channel with that person.

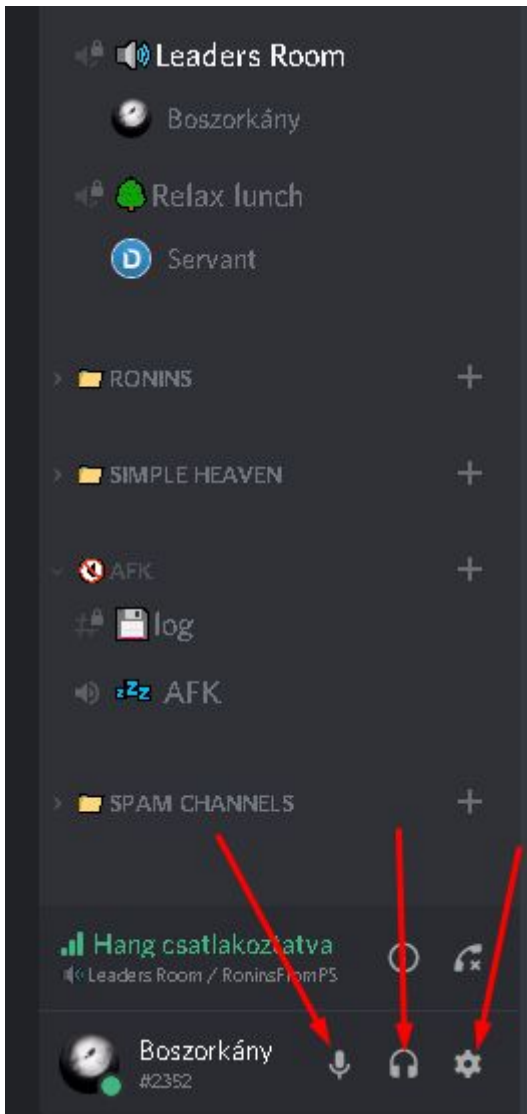

- Private conversations can be accessed from the "Main page" (Discord icon) and remain open, re-readable until you close them with the X next to your chat partners name.

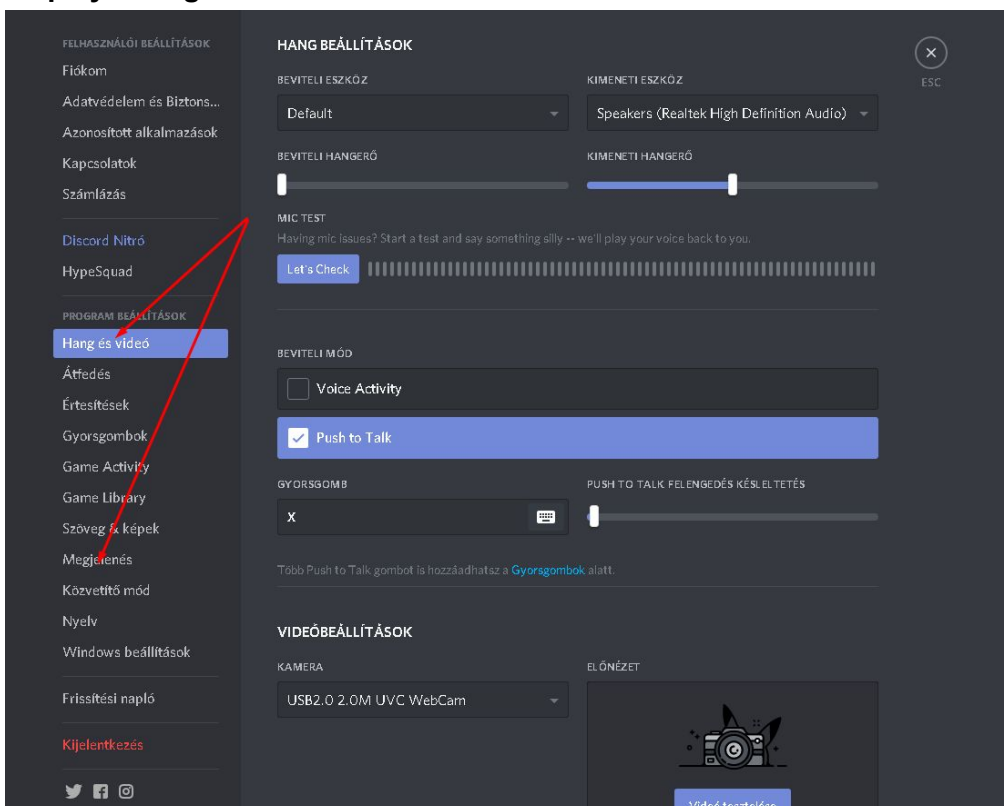

- If you have the rights needed you can mute users and change your volume by using the slider. Set "Servant" volume to 3-7%

- You can mute your self at any time clicking on the speaker/microphone icons
Also you can access your own profile and account setup.

- Please take a moment and check your Sound and Video settings, also take a look on your Display settings.

- To see commands for Ronins Servant slave please type “help?” in any text channel.
